May 26 J-Day for Jewel-Osco start?

by GLORIA DAVIS

It looks like J-Day in Antioch is tentatively set for Thursday, May 26, reports Tim Schwartz, Jewel representative.

That's the day that the new Antioch Jewel-Osco complex, at the intersection of Rtes. 59 and 173, is slated to open its doors.

One of the big hold-ups is the fact that there are no asphalt companies operating in the area until after May 1, ergo the end of May date to facilitate the installation of a finished asphalt parking lot.

Although the parking lot looks complete as it is laid out, Schwartz said that the building housing Kentucky Fried Chicken, a liquor store and a laundromat, to the east of the shopping complex, will be demolished as soon as legalities allow, referring to the occupants' leases and/or options expiring.

According to Mary Edmonds of Illinois Jobs Services, the company handling the hiring for the two stores, "To date, over 800 people have applied for jobs at Jewel. We expect that number to rise to a possible 1,500 before the doors open."

Edmonds added that this did not include Osco job applications.

Out of these, 80 people will be hired to work at the Jewel, making about half of the staff new employees. The rest will be people who worked at the old Antioch Jewel before it burned in 1982 and some people that will be transferred from other Jewel stores.

The Osco store is expected to accept 40 applicants for that store's operations.

Cost efficient Seminar tells of system that saves energy

The latest business seminar sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry featured a local speaker, Robert Diehl of Electrical Power Systems, Inc., Antioch, and Fred W. Rosch of Robertshaw Controls Co., Elk Grove Village, who told the businessmen present of money saving ways to conserve energy.

The star of the show was really an automated energy management system for small to medium size buildings manufactured by the Robertshaw Co.

Diehl, whose company does energy audits and conservation recommendations for industry, and Rosch explained the system's features and workings.

In layman's language, the system does such things as control energy consumption according to changing conditions; stagger equipment usage, turn off lights, heat and air conditioning etc. when not needed.

The system helps the businessman understand what he is paying for and how to save on some of those monthly utility bills and put that money where cash returns can be received.

The meeting was held at the Windjammer Restaurant on Tuesday, March 26.

Election analysis

Candidates call it close as they near finish line

by GLORIA DAVIS

The village trustee election on Tuesday, April 12, has the six candidates for the three open seats on the Antioch Village Board rounding the final turn of their door-to-door campaigns.

Five out of the six have previous village board experience, a fact that will appeal to those voters that prefer brand names and shy away from untried generic products.

Yet the fact that neophyte politician Ed (Jim) Portalski has been untouched by local political hands is bound to appeal to the voters that want some new blood in village government.

Portalski, 42, though new at village politics, is no fly by night having been employed by Jewel Co., Inc. for 20 years. He is the former market manager of the old Antioch Jewel Store, now working at the company's Libertyville store.

He is active in community organizations, a family man and has already broken the local governmental ice by presently serving on the Antioch Zoning Board.

"It's been a good fight and now we're down to digging into the trenches," he said.

"So far it looks like a toss-up but whatever happens, I've certainly met a like of nice people," Portalski added.

Incumbent Bill Seemann, who is seeking to retain the seat he has held for 10 years, serving under three mayors, said, "I haven't got the slightest idea how my campaign is going but I hope we have a stronger voter turnout than we usually do for a trustee election. I think we will because of the high caliber of the candidates."

"In talking to the people I've found that many of those between the ages of 30 and 40 years, because of having kids on both ends of the age spectrum, teens and grade schoolers, are asking that we reconsider our decision on changing the beer and wine ordinance allowing local restaurants to serve those beverages," Seemann said.

Seemann, 53, who is dean of students at Antioch High School, employed there for 26 years, is looking forward to continuing his fight for a better Antioch by entering into such conflicts as the fight against Waste Management and by working with the Chamber of Commerce to bring more industry into the area.

Personally very popular, Seemann will appeal to the voter that likes an outspoken, independent thinker as shown by his record on the village board.

The other incumbent that is waging a battle to retain the seat she presently holds on the board is Claudette Skvarce who gained her seat by leading the battle against a full-time mayor in the last election.

This was an issue that has been credited for the change in village administration last election.

Skvarce, 36, a wife, mother and homemaker, has been heard from ever since, being very active in the parks program, having initiated the Fourth of July parade and the permanent Santa Claus House. She is vociferous on her views and strongly represents her home base, Oakwood Knolls.

"I'm halfway finished with my door to door campaign during which I intend to visit with the people in every home and apartment in the village," she said.

"The people want their taxes held down and the trustees to be open to people input," she said adding, "Many people have told me that they thought I was an open thinker."

Skvarce expects a split vote because of the quality of the candidates.

Former Mayor Bob Wilton, 49, if elected will certainly be no stranger to the village hall or to the position of trustee, having served in both the side and head seats at village meetings.

He is the most experienced candidate, with 12 years of village governmental service under his belt besides his many years on the rescue squad etc.

Wilton feels that having been a mayor he knows more about all facets of the government than even those who have served as trustee.

A well-known Antioch native, he presently is a family man, part owner and operator of Pizza Plus on North Ave. Whether or not the majority of the voters like his past record of accomplishments will obviously come to the fore when the final count is taken.

Wilton feels that approximately 800 voters will turn-out; it will take 400 votes to win a seat and 500 will be the most votes gotten by any candidate.

"This is the first time in all my campaigning that people are actually calling me and asking me to put one of my signs in their yard. I find this very encouraging," he reported.

He said that the people seemed to be very concerned about the deterioration of the downtown area, the empty stores etc., all this even before Jewel-Osco opens up on the retail rim.

Ever interested in the beautification of Antioch (note his

INSIGHT INTO EYESIGHT

Dr. R. A. Sona,
OPTOMETRIST

THE THREE-IN-ONE LENS

Some people have serious problems in seeing things clearly at any distance: closeup, nearby, or far away.

If it's an astigmatism, a single-vision lens can solve the problem. The defect is in the shape of the cornea, "the window of the eye." The uneven shape causes two points of focus instead of one, resulting in blurred vision. This is just one vision problem.

But when someone has three vision problems or needs correction in three different areas, he may want to consider a trifocal lens. For example, take a book-keeper with this kind of problem. He makes entries or checks figures on the records in front of him. At the same time he may be working with a desk computer or adding machine a short distance away. And he has to be able to see across the room when someone wants his attention.

Most people can get along well with single lens or bifocals at work or at home. But if they need trifocals to do specialized work in comfort and without eye strain, it's good to know they're available.

The Time Machine

When I think about it

Your leftovers may be someone else's feast

by GLORIA DAVIS

Second hand is in and so is recycling, so in the interest of getting every ounce and inch of use out of things, maybe we can go a step further than those money saving shops that have made finding a slightly used designer original a feat to be bragged about.

I thought about starting a fast food chain called Yesterday's Banquet that features someone else's left overs, packaged and ready to be heated in the microwave.

You know how good leftover lasagna tastes, especially if you haven't been eating it for the last three meals.

I had it all planned. One counter would be for purchasing leftovers, giving cash to those who were about to throw said food away because they were sick of it. These purchase could be worked the same way that the second hand clothing stores are, on the consignment plan, half of the selling price going to the leftovers' owner and half to the store.

But I suppose the health department would frown on that idea. So why not form a leftover club with a group of friends.

Have a central leftover drop-off, open twice a week, worked on the swap plan. You know my leftover pot roast for your leftover turkey etc..

The same can be done with all those half used makeup tubes you have in your medicine cabinet. That eye shadow that went with nothing in your wardrobe and made you look like you had liver trouble or that blush-on that was just too dry for your scaly skin might be just the thing a friend would be willing to buy at a cut rate price, makeup being as expensive as it is.

The same can be done with those boxes of costume jewelry that lie unused in your dresser drawer, too good to throw away but somehow just not filling the bill when your try wearing it.

Remember those large clip earrings your mother-in-law gave you just because she knew you had pierced ears, a small face and short neck.

They'd probably look great on that girlfriend with the pixie cut and the Modigliani neck.

And aren't all grandmothers looking for outgrown toys to keep at their house to entertain their darlings when they are tricked into babysitting?

The list is probably endless. Let's change this from a throw-away society to a sold-away one and doing it among friends could be fun.

Mr. Webster says that the words dispose of also mean to make use of.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

It looks like Antioch's loss will be Lake Geneva's gain as one of our prettiest stores, The Village Shoppe, takes leave from Lake St. and heads into Wisconsin. We will miss those beautiful windows that the talented Ann Kelly does.

In other store movement, Lake St. will gain and North Ave. will lose Second Showing, Kathy Cirone's classy second-hand shop.

Sign of a the economy! Lt. Tom Fisher spent the week handling and-over abundance of bad checks, 15 in all.

He also reports that the police department is still busy issuing DUI citations despite the tougher drinking-driving laws.

Jack Palmer and his crew will be busy serving the last "Bubbly Breakfast" of the season at the Antioch Moose Lodge, starting at 9 a.m., on Sunday, April 10.

All Moose members and their guests are invited to dine on eggs, sausage, potatoes etc., adults are $2.50 and children can eat for $1.50. Music to breakfast by will be furnished by none other than Joe Harris at the piano.

Anne Schmidt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schmidt, was just appointed assistant pledge trainer of the Kappa Delta social sorority. She is a freshman education major at Monmouth College in Monmouth.

Even though the weather outside isn't too springlike, the calendar says its time for the spring election and this one promises to be a close horse race. But you'll be the loser in more ways than one if you don't get out and vote!

Annie Mae just bought her ticket for the Oakwood Knolls Assn.'s Annual Spring Dinner-Dance set for this Saturday, April 9, at the VFW Hall on North Ave..

Don't forget that the tickets are $8 per person and will not be available at the door but they are still available from Claudette Skvarce, (312)395-6744; Arlene Anderson, (312)395-5966; or Roseann Mazzio, (312)395-7323.

Congrats to one of Antioch's most artistic students, Debbie Boehm, who participated in Illinois State University's annual student art exhibition.

record of park avocation) he also wants to clean-up the village.

Don Amundsen, who is one of the most eloquent and seems to be one of the most knowledgeable of the candidates, often mentioned as a good possibility to fill a future mayor's shoes when he was previously serving on the board, is looking to regain the seat he lost in the last administration overturn.

Planning and finance are his specialty, having served on the planning and zoning commissions as well as trustee.

He also has great interest and much knowledge in the Antioch sewer system and its future development.

Amundsen said that the people have been receptive to his campaign and his ideas and seemed to be greatly concerned with the continuing fight against Waste Management's landfill expansion.

Mabel Lou Weber got a slight taste of local politics when she was appointed to fill the two year term vacated when her husband died.

She also was a casualty of the last election's turnover, but hopes to get back in the political swing of things as actively as she is in most other community functions.

She is presently employed at the Antioch Bowling Lanes and has past business supervisory experience with Illinois Bell. Another well-known and personally popular candidate, she has the fact that just about everybody knows who she is in her favor.

The people input she has received has encouraged her and said that she has found no objection to women sitting on the board, to the contrary, "There are many people who think it necessary for female representation there," she said.

"The people tell me that they want the village to continue to operate in the black, want expansion handled with caution and feel strongly about the continuance of the Waste Management opposition," Weber said.

Both Amundsen and Weber also have a back-track record that the voters will probably base much upon.

'Ghost' to appear Friday

Did you ever wonder what it would be like to live with a ghost, especially an amorous one? You can find out this Friday or Saturday, opening weekend of "Gramercy Ghost" by John Cecil Holm, at PM&L Theater, Antioch. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Nathaniel Coombes, the ghost (Patrick Kerr, Antioch) has been willed to Nancy Willard (Donna O'Donnell, Lake Villa) to straighten out her love life for her.

type, who thinks Nancy is going crazy when she sees Nathaniel.

Others in the cast include Lyn Kessie, Richmond, as Margaret Collins; Dave Carlson, Lake Villa, as Officer Morrison; Mike Giebelhaus, Antioch, as Rocky Glover; Christopher Cary, Antioch, as Irv Jenkins; Dorie Hubbard, Antioch, as Augusta Ames; Donna Warner, Antioch, and Patty Workman, Fox Lake, as Ambulance Drivers; and Marie Marseglia, Fox Lake, as Molly.

Parent-Youth teams advance to affiliates

The youth bowlers at Antioch Bowl have concluded with the preliminary round of the National Family Tournament.

This tournament was open to two-person teams composed of a parent bowling with a youth bowler. There were 36 teams entered.

Winners advancing to the affiliate final round will bowl on April 23 at Grand Bowl, Waukegan at a time to be scheduled at a later date.

State Bank schedules home improvement fair

The first State Bank of Antioch Home Improvement Fair will take place on Friday, April 15, from 4 to 9 p.m. and Saturday, April 16 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

"We hope this will grow to be an annual event," said Andrew Bernhardt, State Bank president. "Bringing our bank customers together with local contractors will benefit the entire community."

Bernhardt feels that recent high rates have delayed a great number of homeowners who want or need to make improvements on their property in order to expand for more comfortable living or to enhance the resale value of their homes.

"All the customer has to do," said Bernhardt, "is come into the bank on either April 15 or 16 to meet with a contractor and get an estimate of the cost of the home improvement, and then see us immediately for the money, which can be easily repaid in convenient monthly installments."

"At the Home Improvement Fair," said Bernhardt further, "we are offering our customers the opportunity to employ a local contractor with an established place of business in the Antioch area and satisfied customers for referral. It is the perfect environment to discuss qualifying expenditures for energy tax credits on insulation, new windows and doors, weather stripping, and heating modifications. There will also be bank lending personnel immediately available to provide information on financing these improvements with conventional installment loans, FHA guaranteed loans and home equity loans."

The bank's second floor display room will be set up with displays provided by general contractors as well as plumbers, electricians, architectural home planning service, heating and air conditioning specialists, plus firms that provide burglar alarm systems and those whose service includes window, wall and floor coverings.

There will also be representatives from Commonwealth Edison and Northern Illinois Gas who will have displays that suggest ways to counteract the increasing cost of energy.

Customers attending the Fair will be able to register for door prizes that may save the homeowner real dollars in any home improvement project large or small.

STATS offers breast exam

St. Therese Hospital and the Lake County Unit of the American Cancer Society will co-sponsor a seminar on breast self-examination held in the community room of St. Therese Area Trauma Satellite, (STATS), Rte. 59, Lake Villa, on Tuesday, April 12, at 7:30 p.m.

There will be no charge or registration. Women of all ages and adult family members are welcome to attend. For further information, call (312) 578-2702.

Ask Dr. Sven

by Robert T. Sven B.S.D.D.S.

WHY MEDICAL HISTORY?

Q: Why does the dentist ask for my whole medical history?

A: Dental care is an integral part of medicine, and plays a vital role in total health care, so the dentist needs to know all the medical facts about patients.

For example, being aware that a patient has heart problems or high blood pressure-the severity of the problem and which medications are being taken for it-guides the dentist on professional decisions. It helps him/her determine how long a session is appropriate for dental procedures, type of sedation to use, if any, and whether a consultation with the patient's physician is indicated.

Asthma, gastro-intestinal disorders, steroid therapy, thyroid imbalance, blood disorders, or infectious disease-the dentist should know about all these in order to work safely and efficiently in helping the patient.

Sequoits ready to defend title

The Antioch High School varsity baseball team will be depending on the pitching of its two returning lettermen to help defend their Northwest Suburban Conference (NWSC) championship.

In his eighth season at Antioch and seventh season as head baseball coach, Tom Baba will have Vince Gawerecki and Lester Zitkus anchoring his mound corps.

Gawerecki, a left-hander, Baba's number one hurler, had the team leading earned run average last season of 1.67 while compiling a 5-1 record.

Gawerecki also had the highest number of strike outs at 59 and earned all conference honors.

Lester Zitkus, another senior letterman, is the number two man in Baba's rotation.

Zitkus, also a left-hander, had a earned run average of 2.80.

Other members of Baba's bull pen include senior Tom Adams along with juniors John Humphreys, Frank Mahar and Craig Prather.

"They're the nucleus behind my pitching," Baba commented on the foursome. "Everything else is open," he said regarding the way the remainder of his team looks.

As for the infielders, from first to third the Sequoits are looking good in the early going.

Not only are the infield players somewhat new to some of their positions this season, the actual infield itself at Antioch is new.

"Fundamentally and with their arms, this is the finest group I've ever had," he said of the infielders.

"This is the finest pitching and infield put together in one year," he said.

"It's interesting because the juniors and seniors have played so much ball together," he said, referring to many of them having started out in Little League and worked up to high school ball and Legion baseball in the summer.

"I can't wait for the season to start and neither can they," he added.

Lettermen infielders returning for Baba include Jerry Haling, Tom Adams, John Silianoff, Brad Herbst and Gawerecki.

Outfielders back are Zitkus, Tony Evans, Mike Evans and Derek Olsen.

"So far we've had fun," Baba said, noting that the mild early March weather allowed the Sequoits to get outside a lot.

The mild winter also allowed the Sequoits to not only get outside, but get on the actual field some.

At third base, Adams has the inside track as he saw action about one-third of the time last season.

Adams was the number five hitter last season for the Sequoits with a .313 batting average.

Challenging Adams at third are Praither and senior Mark Damit, a newcomer to the baseball team this season.

At shortstop, Herbst and Haling are expected to split time with Humphreys also in the hunt.

"That's an interesting battle," Baba said of the challenge going on for the shortstop starting berth.

Silianoff was the starting second baseman last season.

Baba is considering moving Silianoff to catcher in an attempt to fill in the vacancy created by Steve Sheedlo's graduation last year.

Joel Bissing, a junior, is in contention at secondbase, also.

Behind the plate are Mark Evertt and junior Andy Lehn in addition to the possibility that Sheedlo may be moved back there.

At firstbase are Frank Mahar, Gawerecki and Jim Hartokolis, a junior.

Gawerecki had an astounding .404 batting percentage which ranked him second on the team last season.

During spring vacation, March 28-April 1, Baba had hopes of getting four games in which would help him sort out some of the competition at the various positions.

In the outfield, Zitkus, Tony Evans and David Ladimer are vying for left-field.

Olsen was the starting centerfielder last season.

"He's done the job there before," Baba commented on Olsen. "He's steady and I know we can count on him."

Expected to be Olsen's backup is Mike Evans.

In rightfield are Rodney Steiskel, Gene Elrod and Bob Walden.

"When I first came here, we had five or six really solid ballplayers and then you had the rest of the squad," Baba explained.

"Now, I'll probably end up cutting people that can honestly play ball somewhere, but not here because the competition is so great," he continued.

Terming the situation, from a coaching standpoint, a "pleasant dilemma," Baba admits that making cuts is still a task which he does not look forward to.

"Pitching is the number one thing we're counting on," he explained.

"Our pitching is way ahead of our hitting right now, as it usually is at any level early in the season," he continued.

"Defensively, this is probably the finest group, fundamentally, that I've had collectively," he added.

"They're about as strong of arms as I've seen," he said.

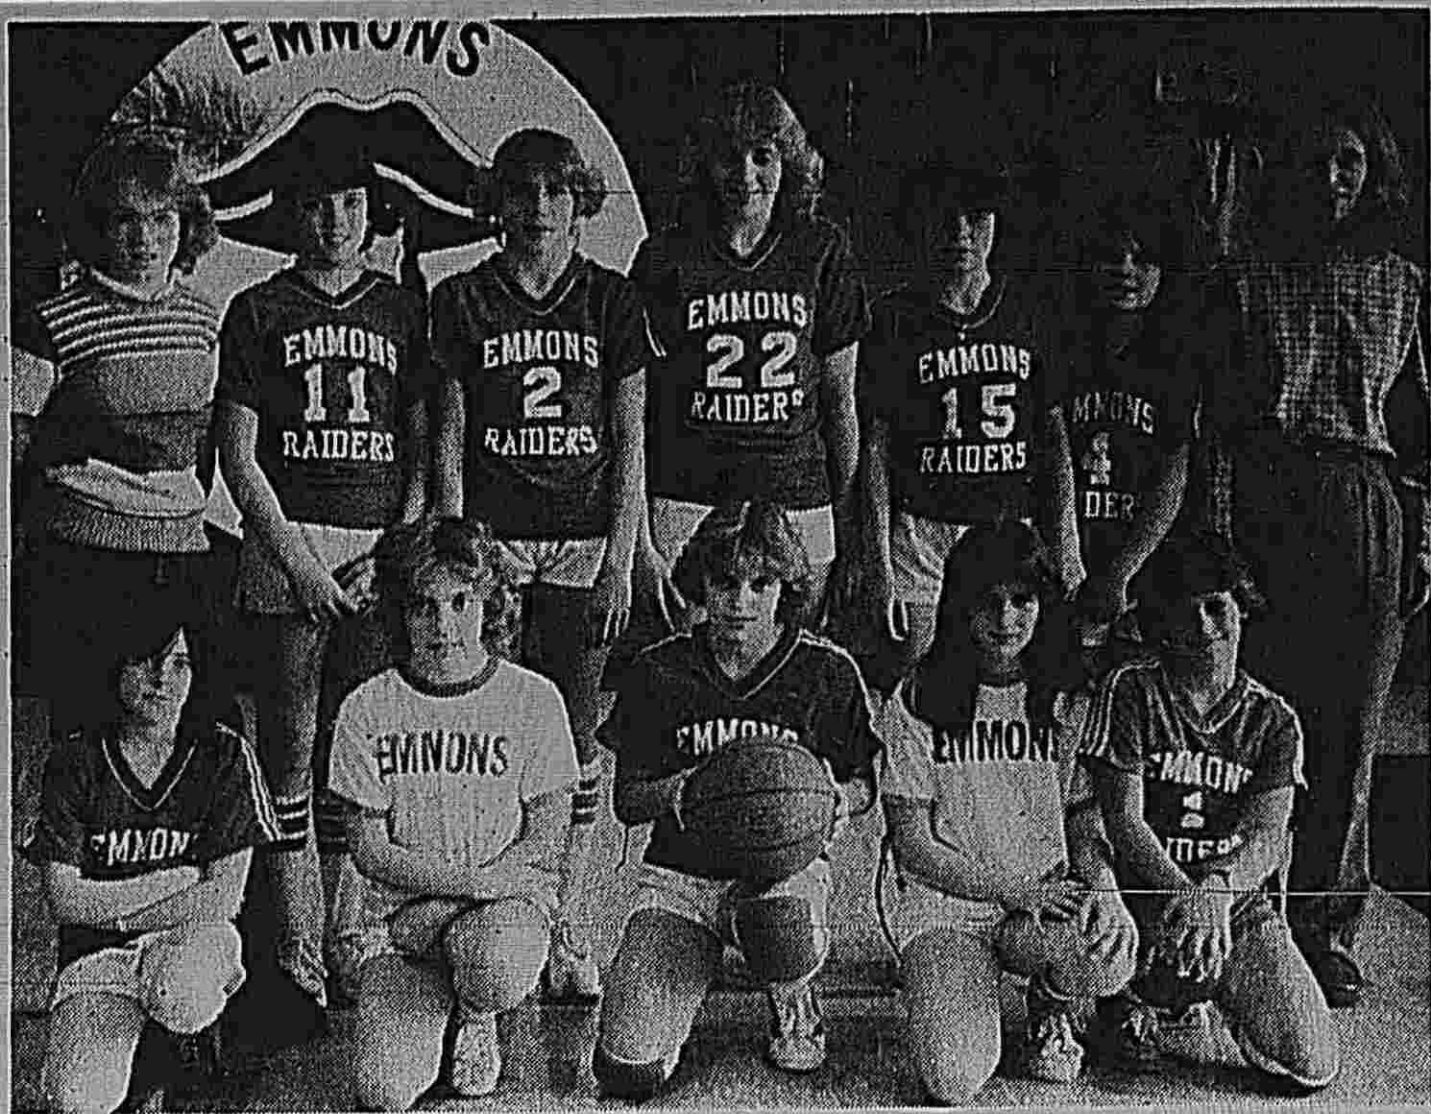

As for the Sequoit offense, Baba views that as his traditional question mark.

"Every school has got one or two good pitchers," he explained. "On any given day, your hitting can fall apart."

"I think our hitting will come alive," he added.

In the NWSC race, the final one for Antioch as the Sequoits will be going into the North Suburban Conference next year, Baba sees the usual close battle.

Warren, Lake Zurich and Wauconda are seen by Baba as the potential contenders to try and upend the Sequoits ambitions to finish their final NWSC season atop of the pack.

Post Office offers new lockbox service

The Antioch Post Office now has 125 new lockboxes. Small boxes are available for $20 per year, medium boxes, $26 and drawers for $45.

The post office has been undergoing an extensive lockbox expansion and lobby renovation. In line with the new facelift is a change that will expedite mail to businesses and individuals needing early service.

The new business section will be distributed first in times of time constraints.

Lockbox cutoff time is 9:30 a.m. The post office is aiming for an 8:30 completion of distribution which is attainable in most cases.

Antioch is also sporting a new postal innovation called postal lockboxes. These save lockbox customers who are receiving non-accountable parcels the time of having to wait to have a clerk get the parcel.

A key with a number corresponding to a number on the lockbox is put in the lockbox. The customer then takes the key and opens the corresponding locker and the parcel is stored there. The customer's key will not come out of the lock without the use of a master key. This gives all customers the security of knowing there is no one else who can get their parcel.

THRILLED YOUNGSTERS—Giant sized Easter Bunny thrilled Karen Jacobsen and Kelly Perimore of Antioch on visit to Hawthorn Center. Bunny will be waiting with big basket of sweet treats in his flower filled pagoda in Center Court. Visiting Hours this week are Monday through Saturday, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Would you hold up this train for $500,000,000?

It comes from mines in Montana and Wyoming. Twenty-eight times a week.

And the cargo it carries is coal. Low-sulfur coal. The fuel for close to half of the electricity northern Illinois runs on every day.

In case you don't think that's worth a whole lot, think about this. Using coal to make the other half would have cost an extra five-hundred-million dollars last year.

That's what we saved by using uranium instead.

The fact is, it takes a mountain of coal—over one-hundred-thousand tons—to equal the energy we get from just one ton of uranium.

If that's hard to picture, imagine a train ten miles long. Car after car after car after car. Nine-hundred-ninety-six cars in all, each filled to the top with coal. Versus just one car, empty except for one small corner of uranium.

In terms of savings, the difference is just as enormous. We weren't exaggerating. Five-hundred-million dollars last year alone. Or sixty dollars every year for a typical residential customer.

It's not chicken feed. But it's not enough either.

The more of those twenty-eight trains a week we can hold up, the more you can save.
